Intro

Titans earned its name hauling houses. The transport and siting company delivers mobile homes, modular houses and amenity buildings across the UK.

The challenge

On any given day, on-site engineers and drivers are often hundreds of miles from head office, covering expenses for fuel, accommodation and meals that can cost hundreds of pounds. Credit cards came with high fees and low limits, while fuel cards felt restrictive. Reimbursements weren't feasible due to high spend levels.

The solution

Soldo created the following solution:

1. Individual cards that support flexible, on-the-go spending
2. Direct payment options, eliminating the need for personal reimbursements
3. Full tracking of both spending and expenses for accurate accounting
4. Real-time insight into spending, enhancing transparency and flexibility
5. Reduced unclaimed VAT
6. Easy reporting integrated with accounting software
7. Scalable card issuance for seasonal contractors

The result

"With Soldo I know I've always got my drivers' backs and the best bit is that I don't need to do loads of work (or miss out on VAT claims) at the end of the month." Karen Green, Operations Manager.

The benefits go beyond spending. Expense tracking is simplified, and when VAT on a full tank of petrol can exceed £100, accurate records make a valuable difference at tax time.

Visibility

Instant notifications every time a driver makes a purchase

VAT claims

Accurate record-keeping saves money at tax time

Simplicity

For both finance and the end users of the card and app

Flexibility

Instantly respond to drivers' needs for access to funds
