

SharpSpring vs. Pardot

A research guide for marketers

SharpSpring

SharpSpring launched in 2014 to deliver powerful and affordable marketing automation. It's a flexible, open platform with a complete feature set, and it integrates easily with other tools. SharpSpring doesn't require an annual contract and is a fraction of the cost of competitors.

Pardot

Pardot launched in 2007, providing a full suite of tools that helps marketers engage leads and close more deals. It requires the Salesforce CRM which is priced separately. Pardot's price point is on the high end of the spectrum, and an annual contract is required.

What one SharpSpring client says:

SharpSpring provides several advantages over its competition, such as Pardot or Marketo. You can't beat SharpSpring's licensing value. Each license comes with unlimited users – this alone beats out the competition. SharpSpring also has an awesome integrated CRM, so you don't have to go out and buy separate software licenses for the features you need. SharpSpring is a complete marketing automation system with true behavioral marketing capabilities.

Parity in email features.

Email marketing is at the core of all marketing automation platforms. SharpSpring and Pardot both excel in this area by offering all of the features that help marketers use email as an effective campaign tool. However, SharpSpring offers more built in the platform whereas Pardot's offerings vary by package.
